GREAT NECK, N.Y., Nov. 8 /PRNewswire/ -- Cyweb Holdings Inc. announced today that its GovernmentAuctions.org(R) website (<http://www.governmentauctions.org>) has joined the Shareasale affiliate network. Building on the success of its current Affiliate Program, the web's leading portal for government auctions and real estate foreclosures will now tap into Shareasale.com's expansive network of quality affiliates looking for proven profit makers.

"Our GovernmentAuctions.org membership website is a treasure-trove for bargain hunters, so our sign-up percentages are very high," said Cyweb CEO Ian Aronovich. "Website owners and publishers realize very quickly that they can generate handsome profits through our Affiliate Program."

In order to benefit from Shareasale's reach, and provide affiliates with a high level of service, GovernmentAuctions.org has recently named Michael Ullman as Affiliate Program manager. A former National Product Manager with AT&T, Mr. Ullman will apply the same strategies he used to help that organization succeed with small businesses. "We're all here to make money," according to Mr. Ullman.

"If I am a website publisher, and have a huge number of programs I can choose from, what I'm going to be most interested in is a program that converts my traffic into sales, tracks it accurately, and pays me promptly. And that is precisely what we focus on."

With a profitable multi-tiered commission structure and high conversion ratio, GovernmentAuctions.org fits well into Shareasale's network. Because GovernmentAuctions.org itself offers such a compelling value proposition -- for a $39.95 all-inclusive yearly membership, customers have unlimited access to the huge database of government auctions, foreclosures, and the like -- affiliates know they will see a good return from traffic they refer.

"We're fanatical about supporting our Affiliates," says Ullman. "As Affiliate Program Manager, I am directly available and committed to quickly addressing all affiliate issues. It's the same level of support I seek when considering who I'm going to give my business to, and partnering with Shareasale now gives us access to some of the best affiliates, along with the tracking, reporting, and management tools that make Shareasale so attractive."
